Jersey City Medical Center presents...

"Dinner with the Doctor"

Environmental House Call:

Is Your Home Making You Sick?

Featuring: Douglas Ratner, MD

Date: Thursday, March 18th, 2010

Time: 6:30 PM – 7:30 PM

Location: Chandelier Restaurant
1081 Broadway, Bayonne

Is your home making you sick? Are pollutants causing and triggering your allergies? These are among the questions that Dr. Ratner will be answering as he discusses simple remedies, advice, and medical solutions to these environmental medicine questions. We encourage anyone looking to learn more about this to attend.

This event includes a light dinner and an interactive period for questions and answers with the doctor. Call Heather Montas-Paulino at 201-915-2000 x4305 to register for this FREE event.

Open to the first 75 respondents.

Dr. Douglas Ratner is board-certified in Internal Medicine and is the Chair of the Department of Medicine at Jersey City Medical Center.

Dr. Ratner received his BS from Hofstra University in Hempstead, NY and his MD from Hahnemann

Medical College in Philadelphia. Following medical school he completed his residency at Danbury Hospital in Danbury, CT and a mini-residency in Occupational Medicine at University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-New Jersey Medical School in Newark, NJ.

Dr. Ratner is an Associate Clinical Professor at Mount Sinai School of Medicine and the author of the recently published book, Tomorrow's Health for Today's Families: A Groundbreaking Guide to Better Health for You and Your Community in the 21st Century. This book outlines a new approach to managing your own health care and protecting your family from avoidable dangers by shifting your view from "treatment" to "preventive wellness."

Dr. Ratner has also served as a medical expert for several television shows on a variety of subjects.
